25/26 Playoff

The diagram illustrates a sequence of messages and their corresponding 'BYE' responses. The messages are arranged in a vertical column on the left, and the 'BYE' responses are shown as lines connecting them to a common point on the right.

- Messages M1, M2, and M3 are grouped together, with a 'BYE' response line connecting them to a common point on the right.
- Messages M4 and M5 are grouped together, with a 'BYE' response line connecting them to a common point on the right.
- Messages M6 and M7 are grouped together, with a 'BYE' response line connecting them to a common point on the right.

The 'BYE' responses are shown as lines connecting the messages to a common point on the right, indicating that the messages are processed in parallel or sequentially.
